Regent Hong Kong has once again partnered with Hong Kong Design Centre and Wholly Wholly to celebrate the power of design with purpose—championing innovation, creativity, and social value.

Through this ongoing collaboration, the three partners continue to empower local design talent and spark meaningful dialogues between tradition and modernity. The Hong Kong Design Centre has introduced a vibrant community of emerging creatives to the hotel, a synergy that beautifully aligns with Regent's vision of nurturing artistry, connection, and cultural expression.

Inspired by the intricate weaving patterns of bamboo, the design celebrates the strength and grace found in the ties that bind—familial bonds, enduring friendships, and shared memories. The motif resonates beautifully with Regent Hong Kong's own architectural language, where designer Chi Wing Lo's basket-like weaving patterns are thoughtfully interwoven throughout the property, symbolizing unity and timeless harmony.

This collaboration embodies more than aesthetic beauty—it reflects a celebration of culture and connection. The bamboo weaving serves as a rich metaphor: resilient yet gentle, traditional yet forward-thinking. Adorning the festive packaging, the design becomes both artwork and symbol, transforming each gift into an expression of joy, reunion, and human warmth.
